The Effect of the Farmers' Movement on the Value of Railroad Securities.

A telegraphic dispatch a few days since is the medium by which a report is circulated to the effect that American railroad securities are being shipped home from Germany in considerable quantities for sale here.

A monopoly organ uses this as a text from which to read the Grangers, Anti-Monopolists and Independents a sermon on the error of their ways, laying all the blame of this distrust in the value of our railroad bonds at the doors of the men who believe that the State shall control the corporations, instead of the corporations ruling the State.

The distrust of American railroad securities in Germany dates further back than the farmers' movement, and is based on more serious grounds than a fear that the State governments will injuriously regulate the railroads. The first serious shock given to German confidence was administered by the band of swindling sharks who built the Rockford, Rock Island and St. Louis Railroad, in Illinois. In 1868 and 1869, these confidence operators negotiated a loan in Germany for nine millions of dollars. Their mortgage restricted the issue of bonds to the sum of $20,000 per mile, but they showed bonds on the unsuspecting people of Germany till the issue was over $36,000 to the mile. They swindled the people of Illinois into voting them large sums as subsidies, and constructed a miserable, rickety excuse for a road, and pocketed several millions of the bondholders' money. The road was then abandoned by them, and it has never paid its running expenses. Not a cent of interest has ever been paid on these bonds, and the road would not, to-day, bring enough to pay the accrued interest.

The Chicago and Southwestern, of Iowa, another wildcat institution of the same character, went for these unsuspecting Dutchmen for as many more millions, and their interest has been in default.

Numerous other railroads throughout the northwestern States were built wholly or in part with German funds by wildcat speculators, paid a little interest while the work of construction was going on, but as soon as the bonds were all disposed of, and the operators had time to make of with their swag, the interest paying was stopped and the investors left to whistle for their money. There are millions of dollars in American railroad securities in Germany to-day that have never paid a cent of interest, and they can be bought for a song by any one who has the money to spare, and cares to take the risk of purchasing them.

It is this class of railroad financiering that has disturbed the value of railroad bonds in Germany, and not the farmers' movement.

State Aid for Agricultural Societies.

There will be some opposition in the Legislature this winter to granting the usual appropriation to the several agricultural associations, on the score of economy. The agricultural editor of the Record says:

"We have seen it urged in connection with this subject that the money appropriated by the State for the benefit of practical agriculture is too often used by the managers of the societies in giving purses for horse races. In answer to this, we would say that if this has been the case heretofore it is the easiest thing in the world to prevent the misuse of the money in the future. The Legislature can specify in the law for what general purposes the money appropriated shall be used. Or they can, by separate enactment, prescribe the rules and regulations of the exhibitors. So that the conduct of the societies in the use of the money cannot be urged against the appropriation."

There are a great many struggling industries that can be encouraged better through the medium of agricultural societies than otherwise, and if the bounty of the State is honestly applied to the advancement of the interests of practical farming, we shall be glad to see it continued.

In the Assembly, on Saturday, the Los Angeles and San Diego delegation reported and recommended the passage of Assembly Bill No. 209:

An Act to amend an Act entitled an Act to protect agriculture, and to prevent the trespass of animals upon private property in the county of Los Angeles and in the county of San Diego and parts of Monterey county, approved February 14, 1872, and to repeal an Act amendatory thereof, approved March 5, 1872.

Marching On.

The Farmers and Reformers of Kansas achieved a victory yesterday by the election of ex-Governor James M. Harvey to the United States Senate. It is to be hoped that the ugly reputation of Kansas politics will be purified a little by the reformers' measures of the new movement, and that her new Senator will reflect more credit on the State than has been done by subsidy Pomeroy and bribing Caldwell.

CONGRESS since the holidays has been dragging its slow length along, accomplishing very little.

The "Heated" Season.

The Santa Barbara Press thus wisely and well speaks of that ignis fatuus, the heated term in Southern California. We find it harder to convince people that it is not as warm in Southern California in summer as it is in the Eastern States, than of anything else.

It seems impossible to remove the impression of people in the older States of the Union, that although our winters are mild and delightful, it must be fearful to pass a summer here and endure the "heated term." If the editors of the East and interior will copy this one little item, they will inform at least a million of interested readers that there is no such thing as a "heated term" in Southern California. As far south as San Diego the thermometer seldom rises to ninety, and when it does, the air is so fresh and bracing that the heat is not felt as it would be in any of the States from Maine to Texas, or from Minnesota to Florida. This is a simple fact, without a shade of coloring. We have sent our correspondent a copy of the Weekly Press, which contains the thermometrical statistics for the last three years, and he will there find ample proof of the correctness of our statements.

Of course, it is almost an unavoidable inference with people who know so little of the causes which modify and control the summer temperature of the Southern coast of California, and who know so well how hot it gets in the Eastern and interior States, to conclude that it must be something fearful to pass the summer here and endure the excesses of a heated term. It would seem incredible to them to be informed that the heat in the valley of the Red River of the North, in the British Possessions, or even on the shores of Lake Winnipeg, during the summer months, is from ten to twenty degrees greater in ordinary weather than it ever is in Santa Barbara or San Diego, and yet such is the fact.

TWELVE storms in the United States in December. Six came from the northwest and six from the southwest. Two originated in Kansas; number six began in New Mexico, and during the night of the 10th and the forenoon of the 11th, advanced eastward to the central Arkansas valley, and thence moved northeastwardly over Missouri and Illinois on the 12th. It passed eastward over New York, and reached the Atlantic coast the night of the 13th, and on the morning of the 14th, its center was near Halifax, Nova Scotia. The temperature of the month presented no remarkable variations from that of other years.

SENATOR WRIGHT proposes that hereafter all greenbacks shall read, "The United States of America—One Dollar." He doesn't believe in a promise to pay, unless the promise is kept.

COLORADO is knocking at the door of Uncle Sam's cottage, asking for admission as one of the States. We know of no objection to the admission.

Mexican-Americans.

Delegate McCormick of Arizona has introduced in Congress a bill to declare the rights of Mexican citizens who were living in Upper California and New Mexico when the portions of Mexican territory were ceded to the United States under the treaty of Guadalupe in 1848. The Washington correspondent of the "Chronicle" gives the following information concerning this matter:

There has sometimes been a dispute concerning the rights of such citizens under the treaties, and now it is at this late date proposed to declare them. The bill provides that all those Mexican citizens and residents who at the date of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo and the Gadsden treaty respectively were established as such citizens and residents in any territory acquired by the United States from Mexico through the said treaties, and who have since continued to reside in good faith within the limits of the United States, and are and shall be entitled to have, possess, exercise and enjoy all such rights, powers and privileges under the law as belong and are accorded to citizens of the United States, that every such Mexican citizen and resident, having continued to reside as aforesaid, has, and shall continue to have, the right to sue and be sued, to acquire, possess, hold, enjoy and dispose of property, whether real, personal or mixed, as fully as any citizen of the United States; that any such Mexican citizen and resident, having continued to reside as aforesaid, and being desirous of actual naturalization under the Constitution and the laws of the United States, shall be entitled to the same on proof of such residence, and the other legal requisites, in any competent Court, without a previous declaration of intention.

The effect of this bill, if it becomes a law, will be very salutary in California, and particularly in the southern counties and Arizona, where there seems to be no established rule for determining who is entitled to vote, etc. Your correspondent has seen men trying to get in the votes of Indians with the plea that they were "Mexicans" under the treaty. This bill will correct abuses and aid the "Mexican citizen," who will become thereby really, technically and practically an "American" citizen.

A brutal murder was committed at Yuma, Arizona, last Thursday. A party of Rio Grande teamsters, armed with knives, and on a spree, attacked a Mexican and stabbed him many times, finally cutting his throat and dancing on his body. The murdered man, before being killed, shot, and it is supposed fatally wounded one of the desperadoes. Two of them were arrested; another escaped.

On Thursday last, Edward Duffy, carman on the 1200-foot level of the Crown Point Mine, had his upper jaw broken. The car which he was running was stopped by a piece of timber which fell across the track (the track was down grade), when Duffy stooped to remove the timber and the car started forward rapidly, catching his head between the upper edge of the car and a timber overhead.

Thomas F. Miller was convicted at Gold Hill on the 30th ult., of assault with intent to kill James Lowry, proprietor of the Vesey Hotel, and sentenced to two years in the State Prison. Miller, about two weeks ago, was requested by the proprietor to settle his bill, and the former inviting his creditor to his room for settlement, drew and fired a pistol at him.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

The number of grape vines in Sonoma county is 3,500,000.

Utah Territory is free from debt and has $5,655.47 in the treasury.

Eight vessels have been lost on the Columbia Bar during the last twenty-one years.

Sonoma has thirteen flouring mills, a larger number than any other county in the State.

A valuable coal ledge has been discovered near Corral Hollow, about fifteen miles from Oakland.

Garlatin City, Montana, is all under water, and for miles above, on either side, Gondolas are necessary.

Two persons are now under sentence of death in Washington Territory, one at Steilacoom and the other at Port Townsend.

The Vancouver Coal Company, British Columbia, sent away last year 45,728 tons of coal, of which San Francisco received 24,770 tons.

The establishment of a jute factory at Santa Clara is considered to be a settled matter. About $150,000 has already been subscribed to the project and a suitable location is now being selected.

In the District Court in Sacramento, on Friday of last week, judgment against the C. P. Railroad Company in favor of J. R. Johnson, for damages to fruit shipped East last Fall, was rendered.

The wreck of a large square-rigged vessel came ashore nineteen miles north of San Simon bay, Monterey county, on the 10th ult. Nothing could be found to indicate her name, but she was evidently of California build. The wreck has been ground into fragments.

C. W. Likens, for several years Foreman House Joiner at the Mare Island Navy Yard, but recently removed, has presented last week by his workmen and friends, with a very valuable gold watch and chain. It is nothing new for foremen to be the recipients of presents; but in this instance it is something novel, and is but the second on record from that locality.

Bunker Hill.

A little over a year more, and the 100th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill will take place. A little band of heroes, then inaugurated a struggle, which brought untold results. It is very fitting that their deeds should be commemorated. The nation at large is very justly arranging for a celebration on an extensive scale, of the centennial anniversary of this event. This will instill patriotic impulse into the souls of those of the coming generations, and prepare them for the struggles, which they, in life, must undergo. Overhanging Los Angeles is a hill similar to Bunker Hill—nay, it is larger. From it all the city can be seen and the country for miles around. On this hill also, are military marks, the remnants of a fort, which was built for the protection of liberty in this State. This hill has an avenue running along its crest, and our friend Beaudry, through whose influence chiefly it has been opened, has very appropriately named it Bunker Hill Avenue. The City Surveyor has been ordered to define the grades and lines of Olive, Charity, and Bunker Hill Avenue, from Hill to Hope, Second Street, and Temple street, from Hill to Hope. This will bring these lands within easy reach of the business part of the city. The distance to the Court House is less than it is from the Turners Hall.

Mr. Beaudry being the owner, by perfect and indisputable title, offers the following scheme, believing that it supplies a felt want.

His various tracts have been surveyed, and platted in lots of convenient size for residences, upwards of two hundred in number, and the maps, together with abstracts of title, are kept for public inspection at his office, opposite the Pico House.

Any person desiring to purchase can inspect the land, select his lot or lots, and acquire the same, if not previously taken up by another, upon the following terms: Purchasers not being restricted to a single lot.

The purchaser or his successor to pay the fixed price of the lands selected by him, in equal monthly installments, as follows: On lots valued at $400 and upwards, but not to exceed $500, $15 per month; on those valued at $500 and upwards, and less than $400, $10 per month. Payments in gold or currency, and no interest demanded. For cash in hand a reduction of fifteen per cent. will be made.

The purchaser to have immediate possession upon payment of the first installment and on execution and delivery of contract.

The right of the purchaser may be assigned by him, and his assigns to succeed to all his privileges and liabilities; standing in all respects to the vendor as an original obligor.

Purchasers shall not be restricted to the payment of the installments as above shown, but may make payments in advance, and on all such payments he will allow one per cent. per month, from the date of payment until said payment would become due.

Upon selection of a lot, or lots by a purchaser, and payment of the first installment, with five dollars, in U. S. gold coin, as expenses on the document, Mr. Beaudry with the purchaser, will execute and acknowledge a sealed agreement, embodying the above conditions; and, upon full payment, according to the terms, the undersigned will execute and deliver to the purchaser, or his lawful representatives, on demand, a good and sufficient and absolute deed of conveyance of the contracted lands, in form of warranty according to grant, the grantee paying the cost of such deed.

These proposals will be kept open until the 12th day of February, 1874. The location is very desirable. All that has heretofore been lacking is water, and that want is now fulfilled. Anywhere else, in as desirable location, lots readily command from $500 to $1,000 and even higher rates. This property is put at the astonishing low price of from $300 to $400. But this is not all. This may be paid in currency and in portion of fifteen per cent will be made for cash in hand.

Mr. S. P. White, one of the owners of the Vesuvius mine, arrived here last night. He says the mine has grown richer and richer, with every foot sunk upon it.
